Motion on Single Sex Services

“This CLP:

- believes that everyone has the right to be, and to feel, safe
- notes, with increasing concern, the reported escalation of domestic violence against women and girls and that the demand for all domestic abuse services continues to exceed available provision
- welcomes the good progress made by Sheffield's Domestic Abuse Coordination team; particularly in its development of services and 'safe place' refuges for Women plus specific services and safe accommodation targeted at male victims and LGBT+

In this context, and in order for abused women to be, and to feel, safe, this CLP resolves to support the continuing provision of single sex services in line with the provisions of the Equality Act 2010.”

Jenny Prideaux proposed, Vonny Radstone seconded.

No speakers against.

The motion was passed: 25 for, 9 against, 7 abstentions.

Amendment to Single Sex Services motion (see text below)

At the beginning of the motion, insert:

“This branch recognises:

- That domestic violence has escalated throughout the Covid-19 pandemic, while routes to safety have been restricted, as services women rely on have faced immense challenges in meeting increased demand while protecting their frontline staff against Covid-19.¹
- That recent cases of gendered violence and abuse within police forces, especially the rape and murder of Sarah Everard, and the response by HMICFRS² to the super-complaint - made by the Centre for Women’s Justice - regarding the failure of police forces to enforce laws designed to protect women experiencing or fleeing domestic abuse, have laid bare the institutional failure of the state to protect women's right to life.

- That the End Violence Against Women and Girls (EVAW) Coalition estimates the funding shortfall for rape crisis services has now increased to £215 million per year.³
- That women who are BAME, disabled, teenaged⁴ and/or LGBT+⁵ are in many cases at an even higher risk of experiencing domestic abuse and sexual violence, and that, despite the significant progress being made, they are often not best served by existing Violence Against Women and Girls (VAWG) services, and face additional barriers to accessing support; and that specialist services, especially those run by and for BAME women, have in many cases faced even greater challenges through the Covid-19 pandemic.⁶
- That although the long-standing practice of VAWG organisations supporting both transgender and cisgender women⁷, and the use of exemptions in the Equality Act 2010 to allow single-sex services to exclude individual transgender people if necessary, has been hotly debated in the media and by politicians; the organisations providing these services have consistently stated that they face no significant challenges providing integrated support, and that while they are aware of the exemptions available in the Equality Act 2010, they have never needed to use them.⁸
- That in addition to drastically reducing the capacity of VAWG organisations⁹, the ongoing impact of austerity increases women's vulnerability to domestic abuse and sexual violence, as well as eroding the factors - including welfare, access to housing, security of employment, and security of immigration status - which are essential to a safe escape and hope for the future for women fleeing abuse.¹⁰

After "refugee and asylum seeking women", insert, was noted to be an error and replaced with After "continues to exceed available provision" insert

- "Believes that the needs of both transgender and cisgender women experiencing or fleeing domestic abuse and sexual violence are best served by addressing the serious problems outlined above".

After "male victims and LGBT", insert "people", and then:

- "Welcomes the significant work being carried out to expand specialist provision for LGBT+ survivors of domestic abuse in South Yorkshire, and to raise commissioning standards for these services"

After "in order for", insert "all".

After "provisions of the Equality Act 2010", insert:

- ", and to demand greater recognition, funding and support for organisations involved in providing these lifesaving services. We urge the Council to ensure that all areas of Council provision, in particular housing and children's services, demonstrate a similar commitment."
